

With Maui's Girl Scouts

This week's news is mostly reports of the various hikes and picnics held on Washington's birthday.

Puukoli

Two reports were sent in from this troop:

"Puukoli, Feb. 22

"Dear Miss Seibert: "I am dropping you these few lines just to let you know about our hike to the mountains. We started at 9 o'clock and reached there at half past eleven. On our way up we met steam plows. They were ten girls. We walked about a mile and then rested. While we were resting we girls were singing about our troop. We all were having a good time. We walked again and finally reached the power station. We girls drank water. It was very cold and fresh. While we were standing we happened to look down and saw Lahaina and Puukoli and also saw the cane fields. It looked very beautiful.

After that we walked on and finally reached the place where we wanted to go. As soon as we got there we sat there and had our lunch. When we were through we went into the valley and hunted for guavas. We hunted for guavas about an hour. After we got through we played some games. We were getting to be tired. So we got our things and came home. We girls were very tired.

"Puukoli, Feb. 28.

"Dear Miss Seibert: "On George Washington's birthday 10 girl scouts with our Captain, Mrs. Shaw, started for a hike to the mountains. We started at half past nine in the morning. We walked about four miles before we came to a power station. Here we rested. I saw many rose bushes near the water. There was a large garden full of vegetables. All of the girls drank water. Then we went on our way. "Finally we reached a man's home. Here we stayed. After we were rested and had our lunch the girls all looked for guavas in the valley below us. Everybody picked guavas until their bags were filled. After that we played games. Then we got our things together and came home. "From your little scout,

"Dear Miss Seibert:

"I want to tell you about our picnic on Washington's birthday. The morning did not look very good so it was that 15 girls started in the truck half in fear and half in frolic. But if there was any fear of rain it was soon forgotten as the girls joined in singing. Hail, hail, the gang's all here, never mind the weather, we're here together. The air was fairly ringing with the songs we sang. There was not a moment's pause. That with our singing and our flag waving high in the truck we made all folks along the way run out and take notice. We sang 'How Do You Do, Sweet Pea Girls,' as we passed the Makawao school, but no sister scouts were in sight.

"At last we reached our destination. Philo. I think it is the prettiest spot in Makawao. We left our truck and ran down the gulch. It was such fun to climb along the cliffs to avoid falling into the stream. Only one girl got a good ducking in the water. When we got tired following the stream we climbed up Philo hill. It was such a hard climb that each girl had to struggle for herself. We were glad to get halfway up where we took our pictures and made our descent. Laura DePonte succeeded in getting near the top. You see, she is so skinny and has long legs. We had lunch in a cool spot by the stream. Most of the girls had been eating crack seed on the way so were not very hungry. After kaulau we climbed up to where our car was, picking mangle and lehua as we went. All were present and accounted for so the truck whizzed away with fifteen girls and captain decked with leis. We were all tired but kept up the singing on the way home and as if we had not strained our lungs enough we went to sing to Miss Macfarlane who has been sick. Wasn't that a beautiful way to end the day?

"Oh, for another picnic!

"Your loving scout,

"EMMA THOMPSON."

Maunaloa Seminary (Cup of Gold). The director visited this troop last Monday morning and felt well repaid for the visit. These scouts were not satisfied with merely drawing the American flag but are actually making one. Each girl has a share in it. Isn't that interesting?

Pakalana

The following report gives very well the account of the hike on February 22nd:

The Pakalana troop and the Cup of Gold troop with Capt. Collins and Capt. Vincent hiked to the Paia beach on Wednesday, February 22nd.

Scouts from both troops got the lunches ready and each girl carried her own. We started at a quarter to nine and all kept together. Each wore her troop color. Just as we were approaching the railroad track above the Paia Store, we saw Miss Seibert coming on the other side of the track. We were glad to meet her. We invited her to join us, but she could not, as she was on her way to Kula. She took a picture of each troop. After the picture were taken, we proceeded on our journey.

At last we reached the end of our journey. All those who wanted to swim went into the water just as soon as they were ready. After a nice swim and a vigorous shower bath we sat down and ate our lunch.

After our lunch some of the girls tried building fire, according to Scout rules and some did fine. Some visited the Japanese cemetery while others went in search of four leaf clovers.

At quarter past three a plantation truck came to the beach for us and we returned to the Seminary having had a fine time.

On the following Saturday the Cup of Gold challenged us to a game of basketball. Capt. Collins umpired the game. It was a good game and resulted in favor of the Cup of Gold, the score being seven to nine.

SCOUT, MARY KAUAKAHI.

Kahului and Makawao

A Makawao scout has written the report of the beach party given by the Roselani scouts to the Sweet Pea Troop.

"Makawao, Maui.

"On Wednesday, February 22, the Roselani Troop of Kahului gave a picnic and a swimming party to the Sweet Pea Troop of Makawao. Such a good time for these scouts was the talk of the day. We started at 11 a. m. from the school house, some went in Mrs. H. P. Baldwin's car and a few went in the old time egg beater with Miss Seibert. We arrived at the Community House and there we were greeted with happy looking faces. While waiting for the egg beater we danced a little and played dodge ball and then the rest arrived.

"We all were surprised to see the lunch they had ready for us—some well sandwiches and the best of it was the most delicious lunch and plenty of it too. The table was a rather low one for the long-legged scouts of Makawao but we had lots of fun playing with our feet under the table. After the lunch was over the dancing floors seemed good for more dancing and then we all started to sing.

"About 2:30 we all started down to the Kahului beach house and the rest of the day was spent swimming. Pictures were taken and games were played by those who did not go in the water. About 4 p. m. we all got dressed and hiked back to the Community House where the cars were waiting for us, and then we started home, singing all the way up, and we were surprised to see the egg beater beat us coming home. We were never able to catch the Ford.

"We all want the Roselani Troop to be a long time forgetting the good to know we enjoyed the day and will be a long time forgetting the time we all had.

"WILHELMINA ORNELLAS."

Wailuku

We have Miss Grace Crockett for captain of the Lehua scouts. Miss Gardner assisted the new captain last week. Tenderfoot tests were passed, and work on second-class tests well under way. Thursday, March 2nd, a beach party is to be given at the Osmer's beach house. We will tell you about it next week.

Hamakuaopoko

No report of the six mile hike taken by the Morning Glory troop on February 22nd received as yet. The director visited this troop last week and heard a very interesting account of the trip. We like your own reports best, girls.

Miss Seibert commends the splendid way in which this troop conducts their business meetings. They are decidedly snappy and business like in their methods. Captain Watters not only has registered her eighteen scouts but has these girls speeding along in their second-class work. Good stuff!

Spreckelsville

We haven't heard very much about this troop but you may be assured they are still doing good work and having jolly times under the capable leadership of Captain Johnson and Lieutenant Stuewe. Six girls are just about "pau" with their second-class tests and several merit badges are to be awarded on Scout Day.

Paia (Bougainvillea)

Last Tuesday the director found a busy group of girls at the school house. Captain Rosecrans was examining for second class tests and Lieutenant Tilley busily weighing and measuring another group. The director gave a talk on merit badges and found that quite a number of girls are entitled to these.

There will be an important meeting of the Captains' and Lieutenants' Association of Maui Girl Scouts at the Spreckelsville Beach House, Saturday, March 11th, at 11:30 a. m. At this time all plans and arrangements will be made for Girl Scout Day. It is imperative that all members be present.

Theaters

Commencing Saturday next weeks programme promises to be of pleasing entertainment, the headliner is without doubt Ethel Clayton who is the star in the Paramount Feature "Beyond" a picture that will appeal strongly to the ladies as Miss Clayton displays the very latest thrills in gowns. A splendid comedy is offered by William Fox in seven reels with an all star Sunshine Comedy cast featuring the worlds greatest Lilliputian players and Singer Midgets with a three ring circus in action this should prove a great treat for the kiddies this splendid comedy crammed full of thrills, surprises, and sensations appears under the name of "Skirts".

Another paramount featuring Jack Holt, Lila Lee, and Charles Ogle in "After the Show" has received great praise this is a William de Mille production, and is the story of the life of the actor after the curtain falls and deals with the struggles when the grease paint is wiped away, and the actor's world is real again.

Friday night will be Kids night when a programme will be made up of comedies, Holms, Traveleogs, Cartoons, Pathe and Fox news etc., which are such a delight to the youngsters.

"Short Skirts"

It didn't make any difference to Natalie Smith that her mother was engaged to marry Wallace Brewster, candidate for mayor, and that the eve of election was at hand. Mr Brewster had reproved Natalie for mortifying with a married man. He had done it kindly, but Natalie was a sophisticated woman of seventeen and it annoyed her.

Natalie decided to teach Mr Brewster a lesson. She would ruin his chance to become mayor. To accomplish her purpose she vamped a clerk in his campaign headquarters into opening a

Gladys Walton, the fascinating little star of "Pink Tights," "All Dressed Up," "The Man Tamer" and other successful productions, will be seen as Natalie, the irrepressible young "flapper."

Jesse L. Laskey presents Ethel Clayton in William D. Taylor's production "Beyond" which is adapted from the story by Henry Arthur Jones.

The story of a girl that promised that she would stand by this renegade brother whatever he might do and this promise cost her all that a woman set her heart upon until; well You thrill at what lies beyond. It is a very strong story in which Miss Clayton holds her audience with intense interest until the smashing climax.

clones, train wrecks, auto smashups, parachute drops, were used for their share of excitement and fun. And, as if these were not sufficient William Fox, head of the Fox Film Corporation, closed the season of one of the biggest circus aggregations in the country and brought it to his Los Angeles studios and incorporated it into the production.

The world famous Singer Midget Troupe have contributed their bit—a generously big hit—and the result will bring delight to every child small and grown up, that sees "Skirts". To Hampton Del Ruth goes the credit for conceiving the story and directing it.

"After the Show"

max comes as an unexpected relief. William de Mille's superb Paramount production of "After the Show." The principals in the picture are Jack Holt, Lila Lee and Charles Ogle and a chorus of more than fifty young women appear in the scenes.

Several weeks were spent by Mr. de Mille in the direction of the chorus and stage hands who appear in the theatre set. The story deals with a young actress who is guarded by a stern door keeper and whose protegee she is. When love enters her life, many dramatic scenes ensue, combining to make one of the most thrilling pictures displayed here this season.

The story was written by Rita Welman especially for Mr. de Mille. Lila Lee plays the leading female role, while Charles Ogle, the veteran character actor, asserts that his role is the biggest human interest part he has played in his career. Jack Holt plays the part of the angel—not the kind that wears wings—but the other sort that backs stage productions. The support is adequate.

"Skirts"

"Skirts," a six act Fox Sunshine comedy, is said to have been produced on so lavish a scale that nine months were required to complete.

Usual comedy standards were completely thrown into the discard when "Skirts" was produced. In place of one or two stars, not less than fifteen of the most prominent film comedy players of note appear. In place of the dozen or so bathing beauties, three thousand of the "Fascinating Sunshine Widows" prance their way through the scenes, clad in creations calculated to make the eyes of the fair sex smart with envy.

Slap stick was laid aside for situations. Comedy was generously blended with thrills. Airplanes, cy-
